Our company has been in business for over 160 years. While none of us current employees go back nearly that far, we cannot recall Blackinton having such a partner and friend in the industry as we have with E.A. Dion, particularly one who's also our local neighbor. Our companies have worked together for many years, not only with customers in the United States but also abroad in places like Mexico. Their people are reliable, their products are excellent, and we at Blackinton are deeply thankful to be working with them.
